

THE BIO-WELL INSTRUMENT

Is based on the achievements of the Quantum Electrophotomics Imaging (EPI) GDV technique (www.korotkov.org) – innovative Russian technology developed in 1995 by Professor Korotkov group. The Electrophotomic Camera (EPC) instrument based on Gas Discharge Visualization analysis is a state-of-the-art computerized system to study the human energy field.

The information gathered is then quantified and analyzed by sophisticated software.

WHAT CAN WE SEE WITH THE BIO-WELL INSTRUMENT?

Human Energy Field (HEF)- is the most sensitive reflection of physical, emotional and in some cases, spiritual condition of a person. We take measurements from 10 fingers of both hands and using sophisticated software create an image of your HEF. The principle is based on the connection of fingers with different organs and systems of the body based on Chinese energy meridians.

It gives you an impression of your Energy Field and allows us to see the influence of different situations and stimulus to your Human Energy Field and hence, to your condition.

The Energy Field program is designed to process GDV images and to build a model of the human energy field using the information obtained from 10 GDV images of human fingers. The creation of the energy field is based on a diagnostic map. The Energy Field shows the human energy field as an image around the human contour and represents it in tables and diagrams in numeric form.

The image, which is created by the Bio-Well instrument, is based on ideas of Traditional Chinese Medicine and verified by 15 years of clinical experience by hundreds of medical doctors with thousands of patients.

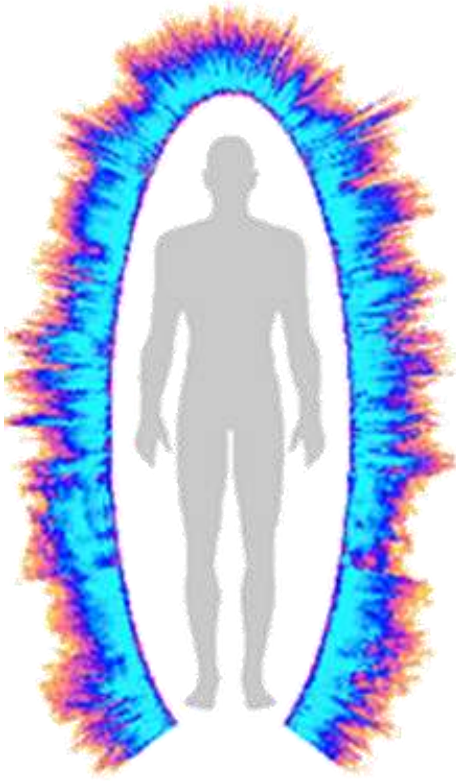

“This technology has extraordinary implications for all health-related fields, including conventional and complementary medicine.”

THE BIO-WELL INSTRUMENT BRIDGES THE GAP BETWEEN LOGICAL WESTERN SCIENCE AND THE INTUITIVE SCIENCE OF THE ORIENT.

It makes it possible to present the same phenomenon in different languages, in different systems, and to look at the same phenomenon from different points of view.

When we speak about energy fields, meridians, and chakras, we are using a language created by other civilizations – a language that, on an intuitive level, hands down, has been proven by their practice in these civilizations for thousands of years.

If you are familiar with the principles of Traditional Chinese Medicine, if you accept the ideas of meridians, energy fields, and the chakras then the Bio-Well instrument is for you.

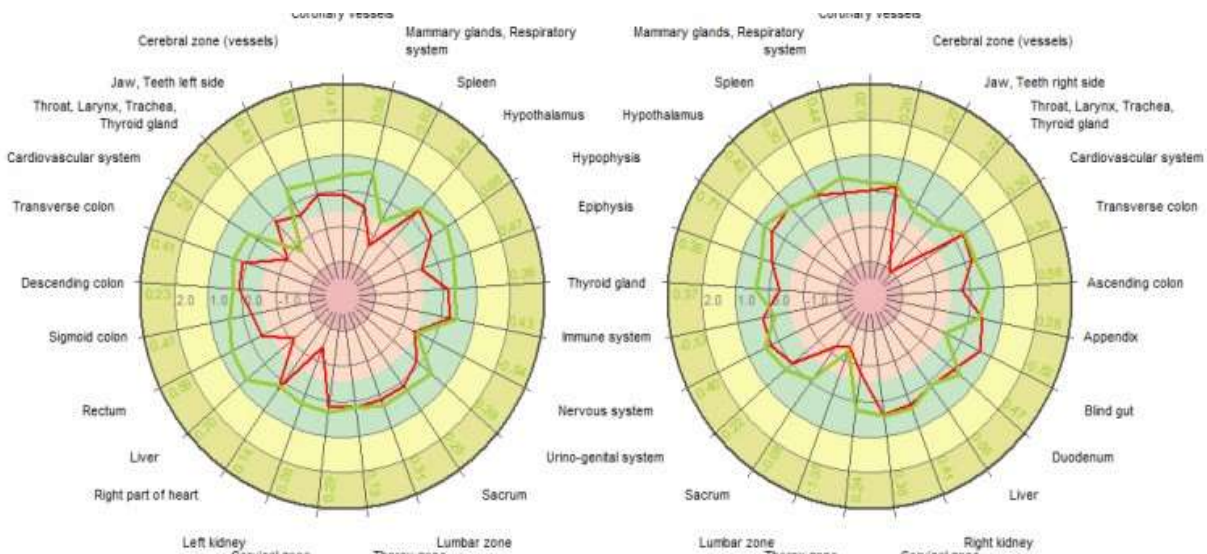

WHAT IT SHOWS

The Energy Field view shows a real-time holistic snapshot of internal energy by measuring the glow of all ten fingers. Finger scans can be broken down to sectors to specifically see biological systems and organs. By comparing results over a period of time, you are able to view a dynamic image of the human energy field and begin developing an understanding of how different situations and stimuli affect your condition.

The Chakras View provides an understanding of a person's psychological and spiritual condition by processing GDV images from the person's fingers and connecting the Chakra with the part of the finger to which the corresponding systems of the human body are projected. This view presents an estimation of the person's Chakra energies and graphically displays each Chakra's normalized energy value and emotional-physical imbalance of the energy centers of the human body. The person is then able to see the size and alignment of their Chakras and compare this to the ideal state.

Analysis View shows three main parameters derived from your energy scan: Stress (physiological), energy level and balance.

The Organs Energy View displays your scan images organized by major organ system, with the ability to drill down into specific organs and systems to identify specific excesses or deficiencies.
